OPPORTUNITIES

National T Levels Week will take place on Monday 2nd – Friday 6th December 2024. The week will focus on continuing to raise awareness of the many T Level subjects now available and showcase the success of the programme.

If you aren't sure what T Levels are, here are a range of resources to help you learn more:

- Rapid Read: What are T Levels?
- What are T Levels Film
- T Levels Case Study – Digital Production, Design and Development
- T Level Case Study – Design, Surveying and Planning
- T Levels Parents and Carers' guide

Are you thinking about applying for a T Level but don't know what to expect? Take this short course and see if it's the right pathway for you!

Most law firms that accept trainees offer opportunities for Sixth Form pupils to get involved and see whether a legal profession is right for them. The LawCareers website has put together a round-up of firms and what events and work experience placements are available.

Check out The Uni Guide podcast episode: 'Get university ready - turn potential into performance' Episode 35: Kamal from Aim a Little Higher chats with student panellists Ishan and Leah about turning potential into performance. This motivational episode is packed with insights and available directly on UniTasterDays and on all major podcast streaming platforms.

If you have ever thought to yourself 'when should I start preparing for an apprenticeship' or 'how can I prepare for an apprenticeship', this is the video for you!

OPPORTUNITIES

Check out this list of employers currently recruiting for Higher and Degree Apprenticeships. It is not inclusive (unfortunately, there isn't a way to see every available apprenticeship in one place at the moment) but the list is very extensive. To find more information on any opportunities that you're interested in, search the name of the company followed by the word "Apprenticeships" which should take you to the best page of their website to find more info.

Here are some upcoming Speakers for Schools webinars that you may find useful. Please note: Registration for our livestream events is open until 12 pm the day before the scheduled broadcast date.

3rd December: Why You Should Focus On Practical Skill Development
In this session, we will chat about the importance of building practical skills that go beyond academics. Martin will explore how hands-on experiences, like those encouraged by The Duke of Edinburgh's International Award can help develop confidence, resilience, and a sense of achievement in young people. This talk is a fantastic opportunity to learn how practical skill development can open doors, build character, and prepare you for whatever path you choose.

9th December: The World of Journalism And Presenting
Curious about what it's like to be a journalist or a radio presenter? Join Nick Robinson, the presenter of BBC Radio 4's Today Show, for an exciting talk about the world of journalism and broadcasting. Nick will share his journey from starting out as a journalist to becoming one of the leading voices on British radio. Learn about the skills needed to break into journalism, the importance of asking the right questions, and how to tell impactful stories that keep people informed.

11th December: Ready for Takeoff: Launching a career in Aviation with the CAA
The Aviation industry is huge and there's so much to get involved with! Learn from a panel of the CAA team and their different roles as they unpack their journeys and experiences into engineering, legal routes, and tech. There's more than meets the eye, let's unpack it together!
